

Guaranteeing the continuity of the port industry

The railway tunnels were built without impacting the above-ground port infrastructure thanks to the tunnel boring method used. The activities in the Antwerp port could thus continue unhindered during the construction works.

One of the two tunnel boring machines for the Liefkenshoek railway link

The arrival of the tunnel boring machine in the target shaft

